WHEELING, W. VA. TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 6, 1870. NO. 12.

The Morning's News.
Our Paris dispatches this morning vividly depict the profound agitation in Paris that followed the announcement of the capitulation of the French army and Emperor at Sedan. In deference to the demand of the populace the Corps Legislative Sunday declared the Empire abrogated.
The Emperor will leave Paris Sunday at noon as she can arrange to do so—and it was believed she did leave Paris Sunday—to join her husband and son in their military confinement in Germany, she having the assurance of the Prussian King that she will not be held as a prisoner.

It is reported that the Imperial prisoner will be detained at Liege, a city of Belgium. Of course he is simply a prisoner of war, and will be held as such until the termination of hostilities, should he live long.

There is great popular clamor for a Republic and strong detestation of Napoleon, which shows itself in tearing down the symbols of Imperialism where-ever found. Whether a Republic will be declared, and if so how soon, can only be a matter of conjecture. The one thought with all parties there, now that the Empire is out of the way, seems to be how to resist the invader and defend the city.

LATER.—Since writing the foregoing we have later and still more important news. A government of national defense has been constituted, and Sunday evening the Republic was declared, with Gen.
Trochu as President. Most energetic measures have been set on foot to organize at once colonial armies. Two hundred thousand men, it is said, are ready now to take the field. The Senate, which held its power by the tenure of Imperial appointment, has been suppressed and the Corps Legislatif dissolved, and the doors of the Chambers sealed. The populace went through the Tuilleries, overthrew the throne, stripped the palace of every symbol of Imperialism and threw everything in this character that could be found into the Seine.

The question every one will ask now is, will Prussia push her advantages against the Republic? She promises to have fought in self-defense, for the preservation of her territory and people from the ambition of Bonapartism. It is only personal governments that are inclined to aggravate territory. Prussia would have no such designs to fear from a French Republic. Besides, her war was against Napoleon, not against the French people, as the King told them in an official proclamation. Prussia has won everything she needed for to be a neighbor towards the French people as she has been victorious over them. We trust that a conjunction of circumstances is near at hand where mediation and peace are practicable, such as will leave the French people, whatever else may be exacted, free to maintain the Republic that has just been established on the ruins of the Bonaparte Empire.
Certainly their endeavors to do so will earn them warm sympathy from all the friends of free government in this country and everywhere.

A Hitch in the News.
The reader will notice that our Paris telegrams this morning are dated the 4th.
As first received they were dated for yesterday, 6th, but a subsequent note from the press reporter in New York advised us that they should be dated Sunday.
The reader will understand, therefore, that the vivid scenes depicted in our Paris telegrams transpired there Sunday, though we have advised thence of a later date. This delay in the transmission of news is due to some interruption by cable, but whether in the ocean line, or that across the channel between England and France we cannot say. Great complaint was recently made in London that it took from twenty to thirty hours to get news through from London to Paris.

End of the Empire.
The "Dechuance," by which general references are made in our Paris dispatches, is the formal declaration of the French Chambers abrogating or terminating the Empire. The dispatches show that this was demanded by the populace and declared by the Corps Legislatif, Sunday. The Empire is ended therefore, not only by the capture of the Emperor and his successor and the flight of the Regent, but by the formal decree of the legislative authority, expressed by virtue of the original powers of government that belong to every people and may be wielded in times of great emergency.

Death of Judge Chapline.
A private dispatch received in the city yesterday, announced the death of Hon.
JOSEPH A. CHAPLINE, of Shepherdstown, Jefferson county, Judge of the Circuit.
His disease is stated to have been typhoid fever, but he had been much debilitated for several months.

Mrs. MYRA CLARK GAINES has withdrawn the offer of compromise which she made to the city authorities of New Orleans, and will now claim the full amount which she considers herself entitled.
Her claims amount to nearly $50,000,000, besides costs.

The Earl of Shaftesbury, in speaking recently of the "pope's" arising from the cellars of the Roman Catholic clergy, said:
"If his Holiness, the Pope, had a wife she would not allow him for an hour to remain in the belief that he was infallible."

A YOUNG man in Ohio recently opened a clothing store, and was sent to jail for stealing the clothing store belonging to another man.

Among those who will accompany Mr.
Seward to China and Japan are ex-Postmaster General Randall and wife.

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

NEW DISPENSATION IN FRANCE.

Engine to Leave Paris at Once.

A Bloodless Revolution.

The Government in the Hands of Trochu and the Chambers.

Paris to be Defended to the Last—The City in a Ferment.

Grand Popular Demonstration.

The War to be Prosecuted.

The Prince Imperial also a Prisoner.

Napoleon's Residence Assigned.

120,000 Prisoners at Sedan.

The Popular demand for the Abrogation of the Empire.

Paris, Sept. 4.—5 P. M.

Manifestations were kept up during the entire night. The people were shouting and on appearing spoke to the crowd, saying he had taken an oath, and as an honest man he could not break it. At midnight, crowds assembled before the Corps Legislatif building and shouted that the Emperor having fallen into the hands of the enemy, it was time for the people to rise and chase out the invaders. The Corps, however, adjourned to-day. As the day should not pass without some demonstration worthy of France. Later in the evening a large crowd assembled on the Boulevard de la Chapelle, and shouted "Vive la Republique" and "Vive la France." They were charged by the police, who used their fire arms, and it is reported that some of the citizens were mortally wounded. At this early hour in the morning large crowds are seen in the streets, and the people are shouting "Vive la Republique" and "Vive la France." The popular agitation is very great, and the feeling against the invaders singularly unanimous.

Paris, Sept. 4.—Noon.

An enormous crowd is now about the Corps Legislatif building where the deputies are to meet at one o'clock. Military precautions to preserve order have been taken on a large scale through the people do not seem inclined to rioting. They are much excited and demand the Deputies to rise and chase out the invaders.
The name of people from the department of the Gironde are going towards the Corps Legislatif building, shouting "A Chambrée!" and "Vive la Republique!"

Reported Death of McMahon.

It is reported that McMahon is dead.
Police Disarmed by the Populace.

Paris, Sept. 4.

A crowd meeting a squad of police shouted "Vive la Republique!" those of the police who did not respond were immediately dispersed. The people then swung their arms and shouted "Vive la Republique!" and "Vive la France!" The police are almost impossible on account of the crowds of people. The National Guard has succeeded in preserving order so far. The Corps Legislatif will meet at one o'clock. The people
